This Privacy Notice tells you about what information we collect about you, how we use that information and who we share it with.

Who we are and what we do

The role of the Environment and Design service is to provide both internal and external users with specialist advice, guidance, and support of the highest standard across all aspects of the built and natural environment; ranging from design and built heritage, landscape, ecology, and climate change.

Our teams provide professional and technical expertise which supports the delivery of high-quality projects, policies and programmes across areas as diverse as planning and urban design, managing the county's Heritage Coast and a breadth of landscape scale partnerships such as the flagship Seascapes project. A current major area of our work is in the promotion of a green economic recovery for the county through the development of a low carbon economy.

At one level, our skills and knowledge assist the Council in meeting its statutory and strategic priorities, and we therefore play key roles in ensuring that corporate commitments such as responding to its Climate Emergency declaration are met.

We are also active in building productive relationships with our partners and stakeholders to help them embed a strong environmental dimension into to their work ; helping meet the strategic aim of making the county 'better for everyone'. Often our work covers a variety of community-focussed programmes including and not exclusive to

- managing the County Durham Partnership's annual Environment Awards which celebrate action in the environment across all communities in the county,
- the Lottery-supported Durham Woodland Revival scheme which aims to improve the amount and condition of publicly owned woodlands and
- support for business development through the Business Energy Efficiency Programme (BEEP) which encourages businesses to take an environmentally aware approach towards their operations whilst making financial savings.
